DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 8/30/2005 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 13, 15, 17 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Yoneichi Ogahara (US 5958265).

Yoneichi Ogahara discloses a plasma processing apparatus (Fig 1), an electrode to hold a workpiece (3), an electrically conductive ring body on the periphery of the workpiece and placed on the electrode (9 and Col 4 lines 40-49), an electrically insulating ring body at the periphery of the electrically conductive ring body (11 and Col 59-63), a thermal conductivity adjusting member between the electrode and the electrically conductive ring body (4 and Col 1 lines 52-59) and a means for pressure application to electrically conductive ring body towards the electrode (Electrostatic chucking conductor 91) while the pressure application means is not exposed to plasma (91 is not exposed to plasma).

Regarding claim 15: the thermal conductivity of the underneath ring would inherently follow the expression as recited in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yoneichi Ogahara (US 5958265) in view of Koshiishi et al (US Patent No. 5,919,332).

Yoneichi Ogahara teaches all limitations of the claims as discussed above except for a device for heat application to the electrically insulating ring body.

Koshiishi et al teach a plasma processing apparatus including an inner focus ring 61 (Fig. 17) and an outer focus ring 62 wherein the outer ring 62 having a conductive member 97 disposed therein for absorbing heat and heating the insulating member thereby to prevent reaction products from sticking to the insulating outer ring (column 16, lines 4-34; column 21, line 45 through column 23, line 64).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to implement the mechanism for heating the insulating outer focus ring as taught by

Art Unit: 1763

Koshiishi et al in the apparatus of Yoneichi Ogahara so that reaction products do not stick to the outer focus ring.

Response to Amendment

5. Applicant's arguments filed 8/30/2005 have been fully considered but they are now moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
